This paper introduces the modeling of reconfigurable antennas using graphs. Several examples are presented and analyzed. Graphs are shown herein to be useful for modeling reconfigurable antennas with different techniques and properties.